
Title: Lady Z.D.D. Of K.M.A.

Author: Drithelior Narakely

I young woman walked
along the streets of
haven. She knew
very little of the world around her and
was quite intrigued by
it. For she was still young and new in the world of britannia.
She decided since her
young status would protect her she should
look at some of the
things around her.
She and a friend
managed to secure a
glowing object called a Felucca Moonstone.
Z used it wondering
what it would do. It
created a glowing
portal she went through but her
friend remained
behind she didnt know
how to get back and get to him so she figured
she should explore
her surroundings.
They were the same
only now there were
no leaves on the trees
it seemed much less
friendly. She wandered around.
Finally she came to a
large assembled group
of people. She asked who they were. They said they were a
guild. Z was intrigued by this so
she asked if she could join their guild. They said they would think about it. Later she came back as they were leaving and one

of the
co-guildmasters,
myrl nightwalker let
her in. For a while
she was in the guild
and was learning.
The suddenly she was
kicked out of K.M.A.
Angered Z decided to
create her own guild
and get revenge on
those who had done
this. For nearly a month she carried on
until she had no allies
left. Even her
brother Sevelar has
deserted her, for he
had always been
friendly to K.M.A.
Finally as time
passed a mysterious
man known only as Althendris Adnok
appeared demanding
she ceased. Z later
learned that Althendris was a
game master. She quickly stopped her
harrassment and
eventually abandoned
her plan to destroy the guild. This is where her story ends. Only
the great ones can say
what will happen
next-Drithelior The Forsaken.